

THE FUTURE STARTS WITH YOU

Your encouragement can lead to a brighter future for your family and generations to come.

VOICES of Black Women is a groundbreaking long-term study, led by the American Cancer Society and powered by the voices of Black women across the US. The goal is life-changing: to better understand health conditions like cancer and learn how to improve overall health among Black women in your life. With the enrollment of at least 100,000 women over the next few years, this goal is achieved as a collective – but we need your help.
